MARCH 21, 1912.

Subject: "Feasting and Fasting."
Mark 11:13-22.

Golden Text: "I came not to call the righteous, but sinners." Mark 11:17.

1. Verse 13. Why is it not the duty of every Christian to be like Jesus, who made the chief work of his life the extension of the kingdom of God?

2. If the masses will not come to the church, is it or not, and why, the duty of the church to take the Gospel to the masses as Jesus did?

3. Verse 4—When is it the duty of a business man to follow the example of Levi—give up his business and devote himself wholly to preaching the Gospel?

4. If God calls any man to preach his Gospel and he refuses, can he remain the reconciled son of God? Give your reasons.

5. Verse 15—What good or harm is done the cause of God by having banquets or other festive gatherings in connection with Christian work?

6. What, in view of this incident, can you say for or against ministers or other earnest Christians freely mixing with worldly men at social functions?

7. Verse 16—How would you characterize the criticism of these Pharisees of Jesus for mixing with publicans and sinners?

8. Verse 17—Did Jesus mean that he loved the bad more than he did good people, and what was his attitude to both classes?

9. What was the real mission of Jesus in the world?

10. In what sense is Jesus interested in a very bad man more than in a very good man?

11. Verses 18-19—Why did the

Lawrence Strike Off by Agreement.

Lawrence, Mass., March 14.—Nine weeks after the great textile strike was declared, the most bitter industrial struggle in the history of New England, came to an end here this afternoon at 4.10 o'clock, when 12,000 strikers met in mass meeting on the common and endorsed the action of the strike committee in accepting the wage advances offered by the American Woolen Mills, the Atlantic and the Knickerbocker mills. These mills are the most important involved in the strike.

The settlement of the strike was made the occasion for an enthusiastic celebration.

The workers voted to continue the strike in the Arlington Mill, the Pacific Mill, the Usway Company, the Duck and the Everett mills.

AS TO "COUNTERFEIT SAGES."

"The Sage of Concess" Must Take a Back Seat.

Richland, March 14.—Editor Keewee Courier: We have never ceased to marvel at the finished elegance of literary style, the rounded periods, smooth sentences and flow of words, which seem to fall inspired from the pen of your correspondent at this place. We have always pictured this writer in our mind's eye as one of mature years, wide experience, and an opportunity for wider observation—probably a college man and a man of affairs. Picture then, if you can, our profound astonishment to learn through the columns of this week's Courier that the author of these inspired writings—which have furnished us with more than one evening of amusement, enlivening the hours which would otherwise have been intolerably dull—is a youth, a mere youth—a "little country boy in knee pants." Picture our desolation! We feel like a child deprived of a favorite plaything. No more can we go to the post office and await the arrival of The Courier with the zest of yore, and visions of oratory to inspire, wit to amuse, and words of wisdom to cheer us for the coming week, until another oracle could be handed down; for no matter if the words be golden and laden with the wisdom of the ages, the thought will come, "He is but a youth; he cannot know whereof he speaks."

The characteristic we have always admired most in your Richland correspondent has been his exceeding modesty, for we know from experience that it requires an effort to keep one's name out of print when one is in position to place it there without cost, especially when news is scarce, times dull, and one has information which will undoubtedly be of interest and value to any one with perception enough to seek out the grains of truth. And it is particularly hard to refrain from self-advertisement when one knows that the space has to be filled up some how and one must either advertise one's self or one's neighbor.

Therefore, I repeat, the correspondent from Richland deserves all credit for his efforts towards advertisement of the community, for he could just as easily have devoted the time and space to advertising himself, or his, and we know his personal gain would have been far greater. We all realize the need of publicity and the influence it exerts in the upbuilding of a community.

Richland is fast becoming the Mecca of the student, a seat of learning, and occupies the proud position of only possessor and original discoverer of the only "Sage" in the State, or the United States as far as our knowledge extends, for we unhesitatingly pronounce the "Sage of Concess" a counterfeit, an infringer of copyright, and unworthy of a seat beside the "Only Original." She also has the distinction of having had a new word coined within her boundaries—"Hairsbreadth"—meaning fourth from the top.

We mourn the fall of an idol, but bow to "The Sage of Richland," and declare ourselves one of his adherents, and any one in need of words of enduring wisdom will do well to seek him out.

WRECKED NEAR SPARTANBURG.

Splitting of Switch by Baggage Car Truck the Cause.

Spartanburg, March 13.—The Southern railway's fast train, No. 30, known as the "Birmingham Special," was wrecked at Drayton mill village, two miles east of this city shortly after 10 o'clock to-night. The four cars just back of the engine left the rails, the engine without the tender remaining on the track.

No one was killed. C. S. Mooney, of Flowery Branch, Ga., baggage master, sustained a cut on the right leg and other minor injuries. He was caught beneath the baggage in his car and was gotten out with difficulty.

Others slightly injured were: G. N. Ruff, Atlanta, mail agent; W. R. Hunt, Westminster, S. C., mail agent; G. W. Ackers, Atlanta, mail agent.

The wreck was caused by the front truck of the baggage car splitting a switch where the siding going into the mill village leaves the main line. This car pulled the mail car, immediately in front of it, and the tender from the engine, off the rails and caused the coach and Pullman to be hurled thirty feet from the track. The rails and ties were torn out of the roadbed for 300 yards.

Congressman Jos. T. Johnson, of this city, returning to Washington, was a passenger on the train, but sustained no injury.

THREE LYNCHED IN BAMBERG.

Negroes Taken from Officers and Shot to Death.

Olar, S. C., March 13.—Three negroes, in charge of two constables, on their way from Olar to Bamberg, to be lodged in the county jail, were taken from the officers by a mob at Odom's Bridge, seven miles from this place, to-night and shot to death. The mob of 75 or 100 men surprised the two constables, and quickly securing the negroes, finished their work in short order.

The negroes were: Alfred Dublin, Richard Dublin and Peter Rivers. They had confessed to attempting to burn the residence of J. E. Cook, mayor of Olar, early yesterday morning.

On February 21 a destructive fire occurred in the business part of the town.

A rigid investigation followed the attempt to burn the mayor's residence, in view of the fact that indications at the time of the February fire were that it was of incendiary origin. As a result one negro was arrested last night and the two others to-day.

The two Dublin negroes had been discharged from the employ of Mr. Cook and Rivers had been fined by the mayor for alleged "boot logging."

The negroes were held in the guard house at Olar until the confessions were obtained, when it was decided to send them to the county jail at Bamberg. On the way thither, the lynching took place.

Patriotism

The stomach is a larger factor in "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness" than most people are aware. Patriotism can withstand hunger but not dyspepsia. The confirmed dyspeptic "is fit for treason, stratagems and spoils." The man who goes to the front for his country with a weak stomach will be a weak soldier and a fault finder.

A sound stomach makes for good citizenship as well as for health and happiness.

Diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition are promptly and permanently cured by the use of

DR. PIERCE'S GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY. It builds up the body with sound flesh and solid muscle.

The dealer who offers a substitute for the "Discovery" is only seeking to make the little more profit realized on the sale of less meritorious preparations.
